QUE-14. What are negative indexes and why are they used?

⇨ In Python, negative indexes are used to access elements from the end of a sequence, such as a string, list, or tuple. The index -1 refers to the last element, -2 to the second-to-last element, and so on. Negative indexes provide a convenient way to access elements from the end of a sequence without needing to know its length.